THE LEAP FOR LIFE. A BALLAD OF WEST VIRGINIA. BY H. GREENE PSO.

[Published by request.] On the prairies of Missouri, six-and-thirty years ago, Met I with an Indian warrior Time had decked in locks of snow; decked in locks of snow;
He had been among our people, and could speak their inagange well;
Knew their manners and their customs—of them many a tale could tell.

He had climbed the Alleghanies, ranged Virginia through and through. And up n the lakes to northward he had rower his bark canne; le had fought an hundred battles, often lost and often won.

In the land now of the white man, far towards the rising sun.

He had met with daring spirits, bravest souls among the brave,
Men of various castes and nations, who could smile upon the grave;
But the bravest one among them was of Wheeling Creek came leaping downward into the Ohio's arms, stood a iori; the white men built it, (such conclusions we will draw.)

Notso much jor self-protection as to fill our hearts with awe.

When these tidings reached our country, spreading hear and spreading far, We convened our reserves in council to deliberate on war;
And when summer flowers had faded, and the leaves were gold and brown, From among the trackless monntains came four hundred warriors down.

But the cit'zens of Wheeling learned it all and spoiled the sport,
By removing, with their families, from the village to the fort;

But at length fate turned against them—one by one their warriors fell,
Till out of the handy fitty—strangers all to lear of lighty were remaining yet with strength enough to fight. Victory seemed to hover near us, and our hearing grew brave and large, As we formed a ound the fortress—formed to make our final charge;
But that charge—we never made it—from the forest like a storm
Dashed McCulioch and his rangers, ere our charge had taken form.

WHAT REV. DR. VINTON SAYS. The September number of Putnam's

Magazine revives the old question of the "Lost Prince." The Rev. Dr. Vinton, of Trinity Church, furnishes this article on the identity of Rev. Eleazer Williams. It contains some startling evidence of a very interesting character, evidence of a very interesting character, hitherto withheld from the public under a pledge given by Dr. Vinton in 1853. dera pledgegiven by Dr. Vinton in 1853.

All at once I was startled by a sudden movement, and on looking up, I saw Wiltiams stiting upright and stiff in his chair, his eyes fixed and wide open, his hands denched and on the table, his whole frame shaken and trembling, as if a paralysis had selzed him. I thought it had. I exclaimed, "What is the matter?" and I rose quickly to rouse him for no answer came. It was a minute or two before he could speak. But with great effort he raised his hand, and, poluting to one of the wood cut portraits, at the bottom of the page, said, in a hollow voice and with great difficulty of utterance:

"That image has haunted me day and night, as long as I can remember." This the horrid vision of my dreams. What is it? Who is it."

"I looked on. There was no name on the page. On turning the leaf, I read that this number was the "Portrait of Simon," to whose care the Dauphin of Frence, son of Louis XVI and Marie Autoinette was committed in the prison of the temple.

"I shut the book; for while it was to constitute the stape of matter and the had found The Lour Parks." He grasped my hand. We said nothing, except my ejaculas to the stream of the temple.

And with that the time-worn warrior sat him down to tell a tale.

'Where the proud Ohio moveth 'mong her oak-crowned hills of green,
There the white men built a village—white men from the east, I ween:

Dr. Vinton came to the following conclusion in relation to this matter:

"But the conclusion to which my thoughts have arrived, after due consideration, is simply this, that it was the Soul, through Memory, bearing witness to Itself, affirming the identity of Williams and the Dauphin.

of Williams and the Dauphin.

The next interesting statement which Dr. Vinton makes, is as follows: "On the first Sunday in February, 1853, Rev. Mr. Williams assisted Dr. Vinton in the Holy Communion in Grace Church, Brooklyn Heights, As there was some desire to see Mr. Williams, Dr. Vinton "scrupulously withheld, even from every member of his family, any hint of the expectation of his coming." Dr. Vintons says:

"I replied that it was the Rev. Eleazer

Highness, Frince Paul William, Duke of Wurtemberg, cousin to the present King of Wurtemburg and to the Czar Nicholas, traveling in this country under the title of General Count Heidenheim; who, when, Mr. Williams walked across the chancel, asked my parishioner, Mr. R.—, 'Who is that? The next point which Dr. Vinton makes in this interesting story is as follows:

"In the summer of 1853 Mr. Hanson called on me in Brooklyn, where I was then settled, to acquaint me with what promised to be a singular confirmation of his theory, as published in the March and April numbers of the Magazine through the testimony, he said, of Skenondough, a very old Indian chief of the Oneida tribe, who had known Williams when he was a boy of ten or twelve years of age, having been present when two Frenchmen gave him into the custody of the elder Williams, in 1795, at Theonderoga; and who would testify that Eleazer Williams was of French birth, for the reason that he had talked with him in the French language at that time. Moreover, the old Indian aftermed that "Williams was recorded in the census of the Six Nations as a Frencman adopted by the St. Regis tribe, and transferred to the Oneidas;" with many other particulars of great interest.

The National Union Republican party of the United states assembled in National Convention in the City of Chicago on the 20th day of May. 1888, make the following declaration of principles:

1. We congratulate the country on the assured success of the reconstruction policy of Congress as evinced by the adoption in a majority of the States lately in rebellion of Constitutions securing equal civil and political rights to all, and regard it as the duty of the Government to sustain these Constitutions and prevent the people of such States from being remitted to a state of anarchy or military rule.

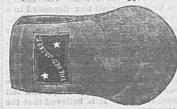

2. The guarantee by Congress of equal suffrage to all loyal men in the South was demanded by every consideration of public safety, of gratitude and of justice, and must be maintained, while the question of suffrage in all the loyal States properly belongs to the people of those States.

3. We denounce all forms of repudiation as a national crime, and hatlonal honor requires the payment of the public indebtedness in the manded of the public indebtedness in the manded of the public indebtedness in the suffering of the laws under which it was contracted or the laws under which it was contracted or of the nation that 12 is a smould be qualified and reduced as OR the Standard and Official LIFE of HON. For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the nair where the follicles are destroyed. or the glands atrophied and decayed But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sedi-ment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted nothing else can be found so desirable Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

PRACTICAL AND ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS. LOWELL, MASS. PRICE $1.00.

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption. and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the langs and through a transition of the langs and through the word of the langs and through the continuous of the langs and through the production of the langs and through the sound that the same time of the langs young children, it is not five forms of diseases the consumption, and the dangerous against sudden attacks of Crossp. it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them. Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral, they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthmas is always relieved and often wholly from it.

Over One Hole of the Stove or Range. The Cooking Miracle of the Age ! FOWL, MEATS, CAEBAGE, ONIONS, POTATOES, PUDDINGS BREAD, &c., &c.,

All cooked together without the The bouse purged of offensive smells. A child can take care of it. Ready for instant use. CHEAP SIMPLE! ECONOMICAL

This wonderful invention is attracting wide-spread attention. It is a simple device; made of tin, conprising three sections, which can be used together or separately. The water which steams the food is rapidly distilled into a delicious soup. The 'Miracle' is seen in the placing in one section—fowls or meats, together with cabbage, onlone, turnips, potatoes, &c., &c., &c., and steaming two or three kinds of puddings at the same time—without the slightest chaffee of flavor. It is a philosophical result which astonishess as; and has given the steamer a popularity never equalied by any docking invention.

Every family should have one. No family can afford to be without it. It will pay for itself in avery short time.

Splendid opportunity for Agents and for investment in rights.
